Andrew Carnegie Tells House Committee On Ways And Means That It Does Not Need Protection.

STEEL MAGNATE TALKS ON FIGURES

Reiterates His Former Statements Relative To Proposed Change In Tariff For The Steel Industry Of This Country.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—Andrew Carnegie today appeared before the House Committee on Ways and Means to present his views on the reduction of the present tariff on the steel industry of America.
He testified in support of his recent magazine articles, declaring persistently that the facts show that the steel industry does not need any further protection from this government.
Most interesting
As a witness Mr. Carnegie proved most interesting of any who have appeared before the committee and interspersed his testimony with humorous epigrammatic remarks put on the subject discussed.
Forty-eight years more
By figures Mr. Carnegie showed that

In less than forty-eight years the iron ore of this country would be exhausted at the present rate of consumption by the steel industries.
Expert Opinion
Mr. Carnegie stated upon being questioned that he based these figures upon the best expert opinion he could obtain on the subject and thought them accurate and conservative.
England in Same Way
In his opinion from the same expert authority, he believed that the English steel mills had about the same length of life and same amount of supply of iron ore to work upon.
Gary Is Right
Judge Gary's statement relative to the condition of the industry and that the duty on steel could be taken off, he believed, should be taken as correct and should be followed.

NOBLE SCOTCHMAN TO WED AMERICAN

Son of Earl of Crawford Will Marry Daughter of Late United States Senator from Pennsylvania.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

London, Dec. 21.—The Hon. Ronald Lindsay, whose engagement to Miss Martha Cameron, daughter of J. Donald Cameron, late United States senator from Pennsylvania, has just been announced, is the son of the Earl of Crawford, the premier Earl of Scotland and head of the celebrated House of Lindsay. The Earl of Crawford is noted for his interest in scientific investigation and was formerly president of the Royal Astronomical society.

Miss Cameron, through her marriage to the Hon. Ronald Lindsay, will become allied with one of the grandest houses in the history of Scotland. Those who have read "The Abbot," Scott's famous novel, "The Abbot," will recall the fact that it was a Lord Lindsay who was one of the conspirators sent to Loch Leven to compel Queen Mary's abdication. One of the Earls of Lindsay was implicated in the murder of Rizzio, the Italian secretary and favorite of Mary Queen of Scots, and another was one of the famous leaders of the Scots Covenanters.

The Lindsays were for a long time the feudal lords of the Hamiltons, and frequently intermarried with the royal houses of Stuart and Bruce. A number of Lindsays, and a Lord Crawford among them, took part in the American revolutionary war. One of them lies buried in New Jersey, the tombstone telling his birth and lineage.
The Hon. Ronald Lindsay, the fiancé of Miss Cameron, has visited America a number of times in company with his father, the Earl of Crawford, who of late years has crisscrossed American waters in his own yacht almost every summer and has made several hunting trips to the Rocky Mountain region.

Both men are reported in good condition for the battle. The betting odds favor Langford, though Flynn has many admirers in this city who figure that he will be able to make a good showing against the negro. The preliminary event will be furnished by Jimmy Walsh and Monte Atchell, whose meetings in the past have never failed to furnish fast and lively contests.

A MUNICIPAL JUDGE HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Only Afterthought Prevented Him from Throwing a Quart of Nitroglycerine into a Corner.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Dec. 21.—Judge F. W. Jenkins had a narrow escape from death and blowing up the city building and neighboring structures yesterday. During the trial of the alleged Holcombe bank robbers Friday a quart bottle of nitroglycerine, found among the burglars' paraphernalia, had been exhibited. When court adjourned in the afternoon the dangerous explosive had been forgotten and was not stored away with the other paraphernalia. Yesterday as Judge Jenkins was about to open court he saw a bundle wrapped in dirty rag lying on the platform and picked it up intending to throw it into a corner. Just as he made the motion to throw the article he thought himself and was horrified upon investigation to find that he had been on the point of exploding enough nitroglycerine to blow up most of the bank safes in Wisconsin.

Want New Laws
Chippewa county hunters, as well as hunters living in neighboring counties, have asked Assemblymen C. B. Colburn of Stanley and Anty Erickson of New Auburn to attempt to get the game laws relating to hunting deer changed by the next legislature. The features of the amendments are that the deer hunting season be lengthened fifteen days, that the number of deer that each hunter shall be permitted to kill shall be reduced from two to one. It is also suggested that no game of any kind shall be killed ten days before the opening of the deer hunting season. The latter provision is to stop deer hunting before the season opens by keeping hunters out of the woods. At present it is a notorious fact that the woods are filled with deer hunters long before the season opens and that many deer are illegally killed.

Mr. Groffman is a brother of Mayor C. A. Groffman and has been a businessman of the city for many years, having formerly conducted a laundry. Many Entries
Nineteen entries have been made for a cross-country run which will be conducted by the Y. M. C. A. New Year's day between this city and Two Rivers and merchants of the city have contributed prizes worth $100 for the event. The event will be the third of its character to be run by the association.

New Order
Another recent order of the State Railway commission may be contested in courts by this city with the ruling in the Gas Co. case. It develops that the city, in granting a franchise to the Wisconsin Telephone Co. inserted a clause providing for free service to all city departments and it is claimed that this is a contract which the rate commission's recent order prohibiting free service by phone companies, cannot annul. If Superior, which is contesting the order, should win, this city will demand the free service.

Thirty Men at Work
A crew of thirty men has been sent here by the Wisconsin Telephone Co. to make repairs to wires damaged in the storm last week and it is said that it will require three or four weeks to repair the system. More than 100 wires were torn down and 300 service connections were damaged in the storm. The C. & N. W. has a large crew of men at work north and south of here, 300 poles being down between this city and Milwaukee alone. Since Wednesday there has been no wire in use by the company south of here.

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 21.—The case of Andrew McGrath, charged with the murder of Walter E. Ammon, the "oleomargarine king," a few weeks ago, was called for trial today. McGrath had existed between McGrath and Ammon for some time as a result of a business deal in which he had been worsted by Ammon and finally forced out of business by the latter. McGrath met Ammon in the Pennsylvania railroad station in this city and without warning shot him dead. The slain man was a brother of Colonel "Dob" Ammon, the New York lawyer and promoter who served a sentence in Sing Sing for his connection with the Miller "50 per cent" syndicate frauds.

FRISCO MILLIONAIRE TO BE TRIED ON INDICTMENT

Trial Of Patrick Calhoun, President Of United Railways Company, Will Soon Come.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
San Francisco, Calif., Dec. 21.—The next in the series of hoodling and graft trials in this city will be that of Patrick Calhoun, the millionaire president of the United Railways company. The case is regarded by the prosecution as second in importance only to that which ended recently in the conviction of "Boss" Trust. The indictment against Calhoun was returned many months ago, but the trial has been repeatedly postponed. It was originally set to begin last December, but was postponed because of the disappearance of former Superior Court Judge James L. Collier, Calhoun's self-confessed "go-between" between Trust and the hoodling supervisors and his testimony was regarded by the prosecution as one of the strongest links in the case against the public service corporations.
Patrick Calhoun, whose trial is about to begin, has been prominently before the people of the United States as a financier for a number of years. He came to San Francisco several years ago and in January, 1906, was elected president of the United Railways. His first field of operations was Atlanta, Ga., where he was vice president and general counsel of the old Richmond & Danville railroad. He was afterward identified with a syndicate which leased the Central of Georgia railroad to the old Georgia & Pacific road. This deal was made in 1891 and the Central of Georgia passed into the hands of a receiver the next year. Calhoun then became identified with the St. Louis street car system. He was afterward interested in the oil fields at Corsicana, Texas, and later in the real estate business in Cleveland, Ohio. He successfully engineered one of the biggest cotton deals in New York, holding from 500,000 to 1,000,000 bales of cotton. It was also reported that he was connected with the Pittsburgh street railways.

BATTLESHIP MAINE SAILS FOR VENZUELAN WATERS

Port-au-Prince, Dec. 21.—The battleship Maine with Rear Admiral Arnold

View of Puerto Cabello, Off Which the Dutch Warship Gelderland Captured the Venezuelan Guardship Alfox—Venezuela Gomez, Who is in Charge of Affairs in Venezuela Since Castro's Departure—Handed in Honor of the Venezuelan Federation of States.

The Dutch have taken the initiative in giving the Venezuelan forts their first opportunity to fire upon a man-of-war. Yet nothing has occurred except that Venezuela is poorer by the amount of one guardship. It is conceded that Holland had no particular desire for the guardship other than to see what Venezuela would do if she had a chance. Vincente Gomez is in active charge of the defense and has been doing considerable talking, but no shooting. Castro has left Europe and may be back to exercise control of his government shortly. Whether or not Venezuela will actually begin war is problematical, for while the populace is crying for what it believes is just revenge, the cooler headed people realize the unfortunate circumstances which have brought about the hostile feeling, and most of all do they realize their own handicap in attempting to go to war with one of the old established powers.

The history of Venezuela is most fascinating. It was on the Venezuelan coast that Columbus first set foot on his third voyage, in 1498. Americans generally believe that these South American countries are new and only partially civilized, whereas there churches, their monuments and some of their buildings are much older than any in this country. It was Venezuela and a few of the northern Latin American countries which first were colonized from Europe. The people generally speak Spanish. Venezuela has been independent from Spain for less than a century. Her independence may be said to date from the battle of Carabobo, in 1822, when Bolivar delivered a crushing blow to the Spanish troops which forced them to cease all aggressive warfare.

HARMONY SHOWN IN THE CONTEST

REPUBLICAN LEADERS GATHER IN MILWAUKEE TO TALK.

SPEAKERSHIP OF ASSEMBLY

Different Candidates to See That No Bitterness Enters in the Contest.

A conference attended by the republican candidates for speaker of the next assembly, with the exception of Wallace Ingalls of Racine, and the ultra La Follette candidate, George E. Scott of Prairie du Rocher, was held Saturday at the Hotel Pflaster in Milwaukee.

There were present M. J. Cleary, Blanchardville; Judge Levi H. Hancock, Richland Center; Edward W. Le Roy, Marinette; Lawrence Lodi, Lima; two Rivers, and C. E. Estabrook, Milwaukee. The object of the meeting was to insure harmony in the work of organizing the legislature.

"The results of the meeting were entirely satisfactory," said Chairman E. A. Edmonds of the republican state committee after the four-hour conference had ended. "The talk was held in the interests of harmony and the men concerned believe it has been insured, although there was no withdrawal of any candidate nor any suggestion of a common candidate."

All to Stay in Field

From the talk of some of those who had been present, it appeared that at least two of the men interested, M. J. Cleary and Judge Hancock, were determined to stick until the last as candidates. The others were ready to pull out in the interests of harmony, but those insisted that the prospects looked good to them and that they would therefore remain. It is intimated, however, that Mr. Scott will not be permitted to name the next speaker through a deal with one of these candidates.

"The situation is right here," said one who was present. "The man who gets thirty-five votes will be elected speaker, for the rush for the loud wagon will then commence and will carry him through. In addition, there will be Scott, with twenty-five votes at the most and so hope of winning out, looking for a chance to throw his strength in any way by which he may determine the issue."

Thinks Victory Not Worth While

"For myself, I believe the fortunate man in this contest will be the man who loses out—that is, if he has any political ambitions for the future. The man who wins the gavel of the next assembly will incur the enmity of one faction or of another. That is sure, and this enmity will arise to cause him whenever his head appears above the surface in after years. No man living can make good with all the factions in this coming assembly and the job behind the speaker's desk doesn't promise to be conducive of longevity in politics. The man who has his county behind him and knows that it will stick for him whenever he wants anything, had much better stay out of this fight and bide his time."

JANESVILLE WAITS ON COMING DEBATE

Freeport and Elgin Teams Next
Ones to Debate—Final Debate
Then Follows.

Now that Janesville Debating Team holds the championship of the state league it is eagerly anticipating the day when it matches with the winner of the Illinois championship.

And who is to achieve the ascendancy in Illinois?

That will be decided on the second Friday in February, when Freeport, which Friday night won out over Rockford, and Elgin, which defeated Aurora on the same night, will be pitted against each other.

Finally, on the second Friday in March, the completion of it all will be reduced to simply a brave, keen fight between Janesville and whoever has been by that time proclaimed dominant in Illinois. The scene of this combat of intellectual kings will be Beloit college—that is until the fray is under way, for after the engagement attains intensity, Janesville team expects to cut the ground from under its opponents.

XMAS CANDY SALE

Only three more days to take advantage of the low prices of all my High Grade candies.

There is nothing that is more appreciated than a package of sweet, wholesome and pure candy, put up in a beautiful Xmas box.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

I have been indirectly the target of some of my worthy competitors because I have been trying to be fair with the vast multitude of people who are trying to think what they should buy for Xmas so as to please their loved ones.

Many reading this article will admit that when Xmas approaches it becomes a problem to many as "What shall I buy for Xmas?"

I have tried to solve that problem to give relief to many, by cutting the prices on my candy so as to make the good people think they are not paying too much for their Xmas candy. Now my competitors are trying to impress upon the good people that whenever goods are sold at cut prices, such goods are "BAD" and are UNFIT for consideration.

I do not want to slander anybody or feel prejudiced against anyone, but I must say that I have very good reasons for giving the public a chance to buy their candy at much lower prices than ever before, and more than that, I can afford it, and that is why I am doing it.

The good manufacturers who have been buying my goods for years, and many school teachers, Sunday schools, and other similar factors are continually and with much satisfaction buying my candy, which has become very familiar to them.

MANY BOUGHT MUCH EARLIER THIS YEAR

With Christmas But Three Days Off Clerks Are Not Rushed to Death As in Past Seasons.

"Christmas shopping is being done earlier and earlier each year," said a prominent merchant this morning. "You would be surprised to learn that many buy weeks in advance of the regular Christmas opening and leave only the odds and ends for the holiday rush."

With Christmas but three days away this statement is somewhat remarkable in view of last year's rush and worry at the tail end of the buying. Janesville merchants would have liked to see snow with good sleighing this past week but the cold snap following the wet days gave the farmers an opportunity of taking down their tobacco in many districts and at some places deliveries have been made bringing Christmas money into use.

The proprietors of the leading retail stores are a conservative lot, and they are careful of what they say for publication, but they all venture to say that there is daily evidence of a response to the agitation for early shopping. This is reflected in the constant crowds and the bank deposits.

It is not altogether fair to compare this year with last, because then the country had just been in the middle of a financial typhoon, but it is thought that more goods have already been bought than far than even when the wave of prosperity was waving highest.

The merchants say that it is a much greater wisdom on the part of buyers now as a desire to help the overworked shop girls that causes people to buy earlier than usual. In the first place, they know that by going early they will have the pick of a full stock, and at the same time will not be jostled and crowded as if they were buying at a bargain counter; again, they read the advertisements more and have come to place more faith in what the advertisers say than formerly.

In agitating for early shopping the sponsors have made their appeal mostly in behalf of the overworked shop girl, whose Christmas is made joyous rather than joyous by the heavy demands of customers.

The appeal to human impulses and the appeal to selfishness have worked well in combination.

FIND TELESCOPE STOLEN FROM NORTH-WESTERN DEPOT

Officer Fanning Located Value Taken by Nelson Hanson, Who is Now in County Jail.

Officer Fanning today found a telescope hidden near the St. Paul depot, the loss of which was reported to the police last week. Nelson Hanson, who was sentenced to fifteen days in the county jail for stealing overalls and jackets from the St. Paul depot, is probably the perpetrator of this theft also.

The telescope was left on a seat in the women's waiting room in the North-Western depot while the owner stepped out onto the platform for a minute. When he returned the telescope was gone. He reported his loss to the police the next morning with the result that his baggage was located today.

Sent on His Way: A cripple, who has been playing piano in local saloons for some time past and who has been giving the police some trouble, was sent on to Madison this morning.

ELLSWORTH CASE IS ADJOURNED ONE WEEK

Illness of Defendant Prevents the continuation of the examination for Some Time.

At the request of the attorney of the defendant this morning the continuation of the examination of Elmer Ellsworth was adjourned until next Monday morning at ten o'clock. Dr. Nuzum who has been attending Mr. Ellsworth since he was taken ill on Saturday afternoon, was placed upon the stand by the defense this morning when court convened at ten o'clock. In response to the questions of the attorneys the doctor stated that Mr. Ellsworth was suffering from a severe attack of hysteria, and that he had either been in a stupor or out of his head since Saturday afternoon. The doctor stated that he did not believe it would be possible to place the man on the stand again for at least a week, as it would take at least that length of time for him to recover sufficiently so as to be able to understand what was going on.

The motion for a week's adjournment was not opposed by the district attorney but in order to save any right that the state might have in the matter he asked that a motion be put upon the record that the defendant's bond be forfeited by his non-appearance. Judge Field put the motion on the record and held the matter open for argument.

POLICE CASE PUT ON THE COURT CALENDAR

State Ex Rel. Brown vs. Appleby is on Calendar for January Term of Supreme Court.

But one case from the twelfth judicial circuit is on the supreme court calendar for the January term. This is the case of the State on relation of John Brown vs. George Appleby.

Some 156 cases will be heard before the local case comes up however as there are 87 cases left from the August calendar and the Janesville action is number 70 on the new calendar.

There are three cases against the railroad commission from the ninth circuit. These are brought by the state on relation of the Northern, the Erie, Great Northern and Lake Superior Terminal and Transfer railroads.

Plaster vs. Milwaukee Free Press Co. also comes up in the next term. There are 92 cases continued from the August calendar and 118 cases on the new calendar.

Here for Christmas: John Stack was brought here late Saturday afternoon from Deloit to serve a ten-day sentence for drunkenness in the Line City. He will be one of Sheriff Fisher's Christmas guests.

FILED ANSWERS IN INTERURBAN SUITS

Claim Raised That Statute of Limitations Makes Present Suit Null and Void.

Attorney Thos. S. Nolan, in behalf of the Deloit, Delavan Lake & Janesville Railway company, this afternoon filed his answer to the suit brought against the company by George H. Rogers and forty other property owners who seek damages for alleged injury to their property. It is probable that the suit will be heard by Judge Grimm on January 14th, when a test case will be made using the complaint of John Plover, right, who lives on Franklin street and alleges that his property has been intruded upon by a section of the roadbed and track, pole and wire construction of the defendant company.

The original complaint asked, in the names of the forty-one property owners, that three disinterested freeholders be appointed as commissioners to fix the amount of damages caused to their property by the intrusion of the railway.

In the answer filed today Mr. Nolan alleges that if the petitioners over had any right to damages, such rights are by this time barred owing to the statute of limitations as more than six years have elapsed since the road was constructed.

Other cases by Judge Grimm today were the granting of divorce to Mrs. Otto Schuette and Mrs. Gottlieb Boehm of Edgerton. Mrs. Schuette alleged desertion and non-support and Mrs. Boehm habitual drunkenness and cruel and inhuman treatment.

Judgment was also entered against Ray W. Halliday, et al, for Henry G. Nelson, foreclosing a mortgage of $1200.

Arguments were also heard in the suit of P. G. McCummins vs. Solaria & Co., a clear firm, for salary. The sum involved is $110.

Harry L. Gifford Auxiliary: There will be a special meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in U. S. W. V. hall, followed by a Christmas tree and social. Pearl L. Hill, President; Cora B. Isaac, Secretary.

F. & A. M.: Special communication of Western Star Lodge No. 14, F. & A. M., Masonic Temple, Tuesday, Dec. 22, at 12:30 p. m. sharp, to attend the funeral of Brother I. T. Matthews, W. M. All brethren are requested to be present.

WHO PAYS THE LICENSE

In the city of Omaha, some fifteen years ago, 315 saloons paid a license of $1,000 each, and it was claimed at the time that the brewers paid the fee. In the temperance campaign, now going on throughout the country, it has been interesting to note how much the brewers are interested.

Some light is thrown on the situation by a correspondent in the January "McClure's" who writes from the experience of a saloonkeeper. He says:

"The relations between the brewer and the saloonkeeper are close and complicated. In looking at a number of saloons, with an eye to purchase, I had found that every one of them was really owned by a brewer. The system under which I became the 'Man Friday' of my brewery is practically universal in New York. The saloon is leased, the fixtures are supplied, and the license is paid by the brewer."

"When I bought my place, I discovered that the brewery held a mortgage of $1,000 on its fixtures. These fixtures, when they were new, had cost perhaps $2,000. The fact that the mortgage was so much larger than the value of the property it covered made it practically certain that it would never be paid off, and that the saloon would remain the property of the brewery. Another peculiar fact about this mortgage was that it was a 'dead' one—that is, I paid no interest directly on it. To all intents and purposes, the fixtures that it covered constituted part of the brewery. I paid my rent to the brewery, but, although it was, high for the locality—$1,000 a year—I paid no more than was stipulated in the lease held by the brewery from the owner. The brewery cleared $200 a year from advancing my $1,000 license and receiving back from me $25 a week for forty-eight weeks in the year. But the interest on the fixtures was apparently charged in the profits on the beer, where it could undoubtedly be well cared for—alcohol, I have good reason to believe, they made 50 per cent gross profit on the beer at the price they sold it to me."

What is true of New York, is doubtless true of many other states, with the exception possibly of Pennsylvania, which has the best regulative laws of any state in the union, because the landlord and tenant are both held accountable for infringement of law.

The brewers of the country are talking reform today as vigorously as any other class. They advocate the abolishment of the dist and low saloon, and for the very good reason that they are threatened with loss of trade, and also with the confiscation of property in dry districts, but they have waited too long, for experience is demonstrating that business is better where the saloon does not exist, and the last argument against prohibition, where public sentiment is strong enough to enforce the law, is removed.

HOW IT WORKS

The Gazette has always maintained that the primary law is a farce, fostered upon the state by designing politicians, and adopted as a constitutional amendment by a minority of the voters.

The last election furnishes an object lesson which shows how the law works, and what it has done to demoralize parties, and encourage indifference on the part of voters.

This object lesson is contained in figures compiled by Ellis H. Usher, an old Wisconsin newspaperman and prominent politician. Mr. Usher finds that in 1896 the total vote of Wisconsin was 447,411, while this year the vote shows an increase of only 7,649, or 1 1/2 per cent.

In 1896 the state had a voting population of 524,516, while in 1908 it had increased to 674,174, or 28 per cent and a fraction. In commenting Mr. Usher says:

"These facts are the severest indictment yet made against the primary election reform. They indicate that right through the season of greatest activity to bring the government back to the people and arouse the voters to their duties, the number that has shirked the citizen duty and privilege of American citizenship has steadily increased. Where one voter stands for more than five persons today, he stood for but four and a quarter persons twelve years ago."

"To some of us that have always doubted the wisdom of primary elections the first thought is that the people have become so accustomed to sleeping in a polluted boiler works, during the past decade, that they can now repose, peacefully and sweetly, during a cannonade. In other words, primary election laws so prolong campaigns that the voters are utterly tired and out of patience by election day."

"This may not be an altogether unfair way to account for the evident and growing lack of activity among the voters, but I am inclined to think that the real explanation is to be found in the fact that the primary law has utterly demoralized all party organization and developed so much purely personal politics that the voters have a surfeit."

"Under the old system of caucuses and conventions there was teamwork outside as well as inside the organizations. There had to be and it resulted in party organizations that got the vote out. It offered opportunity for ambitious young men to take part in politics and co-operate with their fellows, that the primary law precludes. Now they can only be some candidate's personal retainers, or become candidates themselves by publicly proclaiming their own superior virtues. The old system taught them citizenship and gave opportunity for its exercise. The new one merely encourages the individual who has cheek, or money, or both, to impose himself on the public."

"Whatever the explanation, the facts above demonstrated are eloquent. They show that Wisconsin, instead of leading, as we have been told she did, is behind the rest of the country in the attention of its citizens to political duty."

"This is a clear statement of facts which have long been apparent to any unprejudiced mind. Party organization no longer exists, because the primary law has disrupted it, and put in its place 'personal politics,' which means a mad scramble for office where success depends upon brass and plenty of nerve, supplemented by a well-filled pocketbook. The only sensible thing to do with the law is to repeal it."

The railroads have sidetracked 42,000 idle freight cars, during the past two weeks, which indicates that the tide of prosperity is not running very strong. The steel mills of the country have an annual capacity of 4,500,000 tons, but the most of them are idle. The output last year was less than one-third the capacity, and but little is doing today. Time for the people to do a little sober thinking about what's the trouble.

The makeup of the new cabinet will silence criticism along the line of Taft being an echo of Roosevelt. Some of the old members are to be retained, with the possible exception of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson.

Immigration has fallen off nearly half a million during the past six months, and the government is out the entrance fee of $1 a head.

Representative government will receive new inspiration when the new publication blossoms out.

The fight on Officer Mason is on a par with the horse play connected with the police department.

Some kindly critic suggests that every day is fourth of July with Roosevelt.

The Era of Good Feeling

The mail is heavy nowadays; I've heard from Uncle Frank. Who says he'd write more often but he's busy at his bank; And here is one from Henry Jones, who used to be my chum— He mentions how, long years ago, I broke his Christmas drum; And here's a cordial message from my thoughtful cousin Joe. It's strange I haven't heard from them since just a year ago.

The elevator boy is mild in manner and in speech. He knows without the asking just what floor I want to reach; The office boy is blithe and clean, comes early to his work, And never seems to want to find a time that he can shirk— He even offers to come down an extra hour or so Of evenings. I remember now he did a year ago.

A BUSY DENTIST

A lady patient from a neighboring city, in my office the other day, said: "What a steady stream of patients you have coming and going. My sister, for whom you have been working lately, told me, 'She never saw anything like it.'"

This is strictly true. In this, the 8th year of my practice in Janesville, I certainly have more people who seem pleased to allow me to take care of their dental needs than I ever had before.

This would not be true in this age of the survival of the fittest if I did not deliver the goods.

I honestly endeavor to do the very best work, and am glad to see that the effort is appreciated.

I believe I save 9-10 of the pain of Dentistry.

And you will believe it also if you consult me for your Dental work.

SALVATION ARMY TO GIVE MANY DINNERS

Many Contributions Received by the Local Officers for Christmas Dinners.

The Yuletide cup of lovingkindness has overflowed into the headquarters of the local Salvation Army and solidified into a glorious farrago of good things to eat—huculons, succulent eatables, stuffed, stacked, jammed, heaped, wedged, piled, piled upon heap into the receptacle but uncommodious little parlors of the Park street headquarters.

Three hundred of God's patient poor will be crammed full of Christmas dinner if they have the forethought to apply for such sustenance at Nos. 4 and 8 East Milwaukee street, second floor, on Friday morning at nine o'clock.

The rooms on Park street are today cluttered with an abundance of allment given in charity. In one corner is a virtual "Leaning Tower of Pisa" which is constructed of potatoes, onions, carrots, beets, turnips, fruit of every variety, and in another corner is an agglomeration of honey-jars and canned preserves so artfully and tastefully stacked that a greyhound could not jump over them.

Thronged-bargains are arrayed in great numbers in all parts of the room, each check-black with apples. Most of the contributions are the donations of school-children of the city and Capt. and Mrs. R. A. Fleming of the organization extend their thanks to Prof. H. C. Smith, the impress of whose services is over most of the charity work.

Each of the sixty baskets which will be made ready to be doled out on Friday morning are to contain sufficient for five meals. A chicken will be in every basket.

Though the program is as yet unprepared, members of the organization will entertain indigent children tomorrow evening in the hall with a musical and Christmas tree.

The tree, which has been donated for the occasion by F. A. Taylor, a local coal dealer, will be laden with toys and candy which the little folks are to receive.

WIRE PARSON.
Parson—Why, Parson, what are you going to do with all that velvet and leather?
Parson—I've just bought up the entire supply in town, and now I want to be overwhelmed with alippers for Christmas presents this year.

"I was just thinkin' how terrible it'd be if my birthday an' Christmas come on the same day. My?"

MARVELOUS.
"Your wife is somewhat strong-minded, isn't she?"
"Strangeminded!" A furniture polisher came here yesterday, and in five minutes she sold him some polish she had made herself.

WHY.
"Little Tom (triumphantly)—Father, I am not sitting in the last seat now."
"Father—That's right: here's a dollar for you. Now tell me how that came to pass?"
"Little Tom—The last seats are being painted."

A GINCH.
Professional bowler—I should like to undertake a feat of four weeks in this show of yours. How much will you pay me?
Showman—I can't give you any salary, but I will pay for your keep.

A GREAT IDEA.
Peesist Jones (How is it, Smith, that you look so hale and happy and well?
Optimist Smith—Every time I sit down to worry I fall asleep.

A HELPFUL SUGGESTION.
Miss Cummins—Why don't you propose to her by telephone then?
Mr. Cummins—Anybody who wouldn't know who I was, Miss Cummins—Exactly; that might help your chances.

Daughter—I want to marry a title—I want a coronet.
Father—Never mind, dear, I'll buy you a bass horn.

Similarity of Lead and Steel.
Lead when reduced to a very low temperature in liquid air, is said to act much as steel at ordinary temperatures. It will serve as a heated spring, for example. Just as iron is soft and malleable at a high red color, so lead is dull and soft at ordinary temperatures, for it is then already well on its way to be melted.

Figure.
If you really want to do some good as a reformer, figure out how much time you waste every day, then get busy.

Oxford More Cosmopolitan.
Of late years Oxford has become more cosmopolitan; the advent of the Rhodes scholars has done much to effect this. We welcome them heartily, and the more pronounced are their national characteristics the more hearty is our welcome.—Oxford "Variety."

Trouble Enough.
"Patsy's no use o' gettin' mad at a man for bein' foolish," said Uncle Eben. "He's gwine to hab trouble enough 'bout your botherin' to give 'm any."

Men More Sensitive Than Women.
For keen perception, for quick, vivid apprehension of the great world of mind and matter around him, how incomparably superior is the man to the woman. And yet who would have a woman different from what she actually is?—Black and White.

Words and Thought.
Words are the notes of thought, and nothing more. Words are like sea shells on the shore; they show where the mind ends, and not how far it has been.—Bailey.

IMPROVED MUSIC NOTATION

Designed to Simplify and Facilitate the Reading of Music.

An improvement in music notation, designed to simplify and facilitate the reading of music, especially by a beginner, has been devised by a Colorado man. An illustration of the method is shown below, consisting of replacing notes of a song by words or syllables and placing over each word or syllable a numeral which designates the length of time. As shown here, a staff, containing seven lines, is arranged to properly represent data a line of the hymn "Nearer My God to Thee." The words take the place of the regular musical symbols. Each is placed in its proper position, the correct tone being thus indicated. The numerals designate the length or number of beats to the syllable. In this case, the words are printed heavier so that distinction can be readily drawn. With this improved arrangement the inventor claims it is needless to spend a great deal of time in learning to read music; as the length of tone is designed by the numerals, and the tone by the position of the words and syllables.

NEW SKIRT MEASURER

Clever Device Hange From Belt and Gives Exact Length.

Women need depend no longer on the nose or less experienced measurements of human hands to determine the length of their skirts, a number of new inventions so great that they can save appreciable time. The same Indian woman who recently invented a new garment hanger, encouraged by her success in that direction, has brought forward a skirt-measuring device, as simple as it is ingenious. This consists of a belt, which is fastened around the waist of the person to be measured. From the front of this belt depends a tape, with a weight at the bottom end. At the belt the tape runs through a slot which prevents it from paying out too freely, so that as it is pulled in the length of the skirt it remains stationary. In this way the exact measurement of a garment, as it hangs, may be obtained, and it is easy to be seen that the device can be put to other uses than the one for which it was originally intended.

SCIENCE NOTES

In order to dispense with the cost of electric lighting in the mill operation it is proposed by some of the mill owners of California to operate the establishments from daylight to dusk during the season of short days. Some concessions are made in the operation which makes the proposition attractive to them.

A Dresden physician says "electric sunbathing" is the result of constant work.

REVERSIBLE ENVELOPE

Users More Likely to Have Their Letters Answered.

Correspondence should be quickened by the reversible envelope put forth by a man in Illinois, which enables a person to turn inside out the envelope he has just received and send his reply in it. The envelope is so made that when it is opened it spreads out in four flaps, gummed and marked to show how they should be refolded. When gummed together it forms a clean envelope, ready to be addressed and mailed in reply to the sender. The latter, further insured a prompt reply to his letter, may affix a stamp to what will be the obverse side of the new envelope and the receiver will have no excuse for delay. This form of envelope will no doubt be largely used in advertising, as it can be made with the name and address of the firm sending it out, printed on the inside. It will have all the advantages of the reply postcard and the additional advantage of privacy.

ing under electric lights and brings on a condition which results in cancer. According to this gentleman the damage is done by the ultra-violet rays and can be overcome by the use of spectacles of a yellowish or greenish tint, which he predicts will become universal as soon as the extent of the damage done by electric light shall be appreciated.

The authorized capital of Japanese electric undertakings is $99,143,000, or $25,721,000 in 1907. The electrical works undertaken chiefly represented building and railways. The number of lights supplied in 1907, 305,000, increased to 397,524 in 1908. Tokyo and Osaka require each 100,000 lights. Electric railways show equal development. In 1907 the mileage was 38, which rose to 110 in 1908, and will be largely added to by construction during the present year.

Recently electrically welded chain has been made commercially by automatically cutting the blanks from a bar so as to form a socket in one end and a corresponding taper on the other end of the link blank. This is then bent and joined one end to the other. The joints welded. This obviates the usual amount of upset in such cases. The laps, or area of contact, are much larger than in the squares by cut ends, and a nice appearing and good weld is made.

The exhibit on the ground floor of the American Museum of Natural History illustrating the solar system has been altered so as to be more comprehensive and instructive. The sun is now represented by an illuminated globe three inches in diameter, which brings the orbit of the earth just within the foyer. The foyer, therefore, now contains the whole of the orbits of Mercury, Venus and the earth and part of that of Mars, while the adjoining exhibition hall contains the remainder of the orbits of Mars and parts of those of Jupiter and Saturn. The orbits are represented by circles of wire on which the days and months are indicated and along which the planets, shown as light of proper size, are moved from day to day in correct position.

When a fire breaks out in the town of Sparrows Point every resident is notified of the fact, as well as the location of the conflagration, by means of three whistles at the works of the Maryland Steel Company. The whistles are operated in conjunction with the fire alarm system. The invention is that of one of the townsmen, A. J. Woodworth, the chief electrician of the steel company. This system, which is electrically operated, sounds each alarm by blowing a number of blasts simultaneously on three large steam whistles supplied by boilers which are constantly under steam. The numbers blown are those of the box from which the alarm is turned in, and as the whistles are located, one at the extreme western end of the works, one near the center and the other at the eastern end of the town, the whole town, including the plant, is made aware of the breaking out of a fire. Cards giving the numbers and locations of the whistles are widely distributed among the different offices in the works and the residences and public places of the town.

Signs of Prosperity.
A man stopped at the stand of a roast chestnut vendor the other day to buy "five cents' worth," and presently he was joined by another and another purchaser until there were four customers waiting to be served. A small boy stopped next, looking at the rush of business, remarked: "Say, Guiney, if this keeps up you'll need a cash register and a girl to run it."—New York Press.

Meteors Add to Earth's Weight.
The meteors which fall upon the earth in vast numbers every year add their weight to the earth. Thus the earth is increasing a minute quantity in weight each year, but not enough to be perceptible in thousands of years. Except for the escape of light gases from the atmosphere there is no known way in which the earth can lose weight.

Chinese Idea of Government.
Here is a Chinese idea of prosperity in a nation: When the sword is rusty, the plow bright, the prisons empty, the granaries full, the steps of the temple worn down and those of the low courts grass-grown, when doctors go about, the hawks on horseback, and the men of letters drive in their own carriages, then the empire is well governed.

How to Judge a Diamond

First look at the color—the whiter the better—then look for the brilliancy. This depends on the perfect cutting. If cut too thin the ray of light entering the center will escape, if too thick the light ray is reflected from facet to facet but is not thrown out from the top. Perfect cutting is the reason why some stones are more brilliant than others of the same color and weight. It is the knowledge of all these qualities and the combination of qualities that determines the value of diamonds and makes the diamond expert. Don't buy a diamond that is not white. Don't buy a diamond that is not brilliant. Don't buy a diamond that has flaws and carbon spots. Don't buy a diamond because it is cheap, as its low price must indicate imperfections. Our many years' experience in handling diamonds has allowed us to glean the knowledge which has built up our diamond trade to its present proportions. We have received today another package of stones and would be pleased to show you, if interested.

SUNDAY SERMONS
AT TWO CHURCHES

REVERENDS MCKINNEY AND TIP-
PET PREACHED ON MESSAGES.

STRONG TEXTS ARE USED

"Do Not Be a Hermit" the Message Sent by St. Paul—Salvation of the World Brought by Babe
of Bethlehem.

"Don't be a hermit," said Rector
John Kinney of Christ church yesterday morning in the sermon which he based on a text from the 14th chapter, eighteenth verse of St. Paul's second epistle to the Corinthians.
"Though my text is that the things which are seen, are temporal, and the things which are not seen, are eternal,"
he did not mean to imply that a man can escape worldliness by clois-
tering himself or by living like Simon
of Stylites atop of a pillar, having all his sustenance sent up to him in a basket tied to the end of a rope which is thrown him.

"For the true way to avoid things that are temporal is to observe holy virtue where it says: 'Lay not up for yourself treasures on earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and thieves break through and steal, but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven where moth and rust do not corrupt and no thieves break through and steal.'"

"And if ever there was a spotless
man on earth, if every there was a
being whose precepts and career lift
us to a plane above temporal things,
it was Jesus, the of Galilee whose birthday is this week.

"How narrow, how wrapped up in our own little community and absorbed in temporalities would we be were it not for the Saviour's having lived!"
"Deal in your sermons with the practical things of life," is a suggestion often given to a preacher of the gospel. But I think it paramount to deal with the hereafter for, as the text says: 'The things which are seen are temporal, and the things that are not seen are eternal.'"

"I would categorize as visible things
the pain and poverty and suffering in life, and even the wonderful verdure
of the earth and the starry canopy
of heaven, but things invisible are the majesty of God, which no eye hath ever seen and the souls also of those that have crossed into the land of Canaan and are in Paradise.

"But do not live the life of a hermit, for that is not the way to see the invisible and escape the finite."

At Carroll Church.
Yesterday morning at the Carroll Memorial Methodist church, it was shown conclusively that the salvation of the world is brought about by a Babe.

Rev. Tippett said that the sending of Christ to earth as a babe was a form of stratagem on the part of the Lord to bring about the salvation of the world.

The text of his sermon was taken from the second chapter of Luke and from the twenty-fifth to the thirty-third verses, in which it tells of a certain man named Simeon who was a righteous man and who was shown by the Lord, that he should not die before he had seen the Lord's Christ.

This man went unto the temple
where Joseph and Mary had brought the Child, and taking the Child in his arms, saying that he had seen the salvation of all peoples.

The number of people who celebrate Christmas in the proper manner who stop to consider the real meaning of the day is comparatively few. Let us consider the narrative and cherish the stories which cling about the birth of Christ; the myths of the holy and the sublime,
the mirth of mirth and the merriment
of childhood.

Christ smiles upon the festal and happy celebration of the day in the homes.

The new testament inventors of the Christmas stories were exceedingly clever. If we could fathom the truth and beauty of all these we would be exceedingly profound.

We are amazed at the wisdom of these writers who produced these stories as the chiefest contributions
of God to the literature of the earth.
God made himself to appear as a child and if he was as a child he can not be won by anything else. God knows our human nature and under no conception could he love us but in the form of a child. Christ, coming in the form of a child was able to conquer the world without the knowing it and in an easier and better manner than had he appeared on the earth at the head of a monstrous
army to put down those who would not follow him.

The greatest powers are the strongest powers. Who is so busy as not to stop to listen to the stories which are told of childhood. The delicacy and tenderness of these tales beat down the bars of iron.

Humanity is being turned from its slav by the gentle actions of childhood. Gentleness is winning men to righteousness. The severest castigations can not drive Satan off.
You can not save men by precepts.
You can reason with them and admonish them but the fires of evil are only banked and will flare up again.
The return to the dream of childhood can never be accomplished in reality but the nearest approach to it is in a Christian life, for Jesus has said that ye cannot be saved except ye become as little children.

Childhood is the time when everyone is most sensitive to the approaches of evil. Heaven does surely lie about us in our childhood. The child Christ awakens in us the noblest desires.

SHIPPING STUFFED
GEESSE TO MARKETS

Watertown Shipping Their Famous
Fowls to the Eastern Markets

By Crate For
This is the season of stuffed geese
at Watertown and daily large shipments of their famous stuffed geese
are being sent out to the markets in New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Chicago. Several have been purchased by Janesville men as a rare delicacy. H. S. Thometz has one which he secured during the past week that weighs twenty-six pounds.
Last year he had one that tipped the scales at forty-two pounds, but this year's bird is by far better looking.
Mr. Thometz says the season is exceptionally good this year and that while the records of some of the former years have not been surpassed,
the average yield is far better. Stuffing geese for the market, particularly for Christmas, has become an important feature of the trade that exists in the goose raisers of Watertown
and it is a sight worth seeing to watch the process of fattening them until they are nearly bursting. The liver is one of the particular delicacies
that is secured and some of them have been known to weigh as high as seven pounds. This however, is not frequent, as they average a trifle over three pounds each. The geese skin properly prepared and dried after cooking is also a delicious morsel. Goose breast sliced cold after being smoked is another feature of the trade that brings enormous profit. So far as is known the heaviest goose received was marketed by John Schumacher of the town of Watertown. It weighed thirty-one and one-half pounds. Last year one goose balanced the scales at thirty-four pounds and several years ago a goose was sold here which weighed thirty-eight pounds, the heaviest one ever marketed in Watertown
so far as is known. At the Watertown Grand company, one shipment of twenty-eight geese averaged twenty-two pounds. The liver of one goose received by this firm recently, weighed over three pounds, but this is not the largest. Several years ago two geese
livers weighed exactly seven pounds.
One weighed three and one-quarter
pounds and the other three and three-quarter pounds, about the weight of an ordinary chicken.

SAVE BIRTHPLACE
OF GREAT MARTYR

Governor Davidson Names Committee
From Wisconsin to Act With Lincoln Farm Association.

Governor Davidson has appointed a committee of thirty-six to co-operate with the Lincoln Farm association in its plan to celebrate the Lincoln centenary in Hodgenville, Kentucky, February 12, 1909.

The association has secured possession of the birthplace of the martyred president and the cabin where that important event occurred and have planned to build there a Lincoln memorial. The cost will be some $150,- 000, of which $100,000 has already been subscribed by 80,000 persons.
Now the association proposes an organization of all the states to co-operate in the completion of the work and the association, of which Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri is president, has asked the governors of all the states to name committees to that end.

The committee appointed by Governor Davidson is as follows:
H. W. Reed, executive of the Memorial
and patriotic instructor, C. A. R.
Madison; E. D. Cox, Whitewater; Colonel J. L. Woodworth, Milwaukee;
Colonel J. L. Woodworth, Milwaukee;

At a meeting of the Knights of Columbus Sunday afternoon the question of establishing permanent head-

discussed, the subject receiving much favorable comment. The rooms in question are at the top of the build-

and club room. The question will be decided at a later meeting.

DR. FLUNE DELIVERED AN INTER-ESTING LECTURE SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Former-M. D. Explained Ideals and Aims of Science as Set Forth
by Mrs. Eddy.

Before an interested audience yesterday afternoon at the Myers Opera house Dr. Flune, Christian Science lecturer, delivered an address on Christian Science, in substance he spoke
as follows:

Christian Science, without a name,
is simply Being, known, understood,
and found demonstrably. It is the Science of Being, the Science of Life,
the Science of Truth, and true Being, reduced to a System. Its name defines it, for it is perfectly Christian, because it contains no
wrong, either in theory or in practice. It is scientific, for it admits of no error, either in premises or conclusion. It is just the same with or without a name, yet it is just what better named; its name is just what
it should be, as definite and significant as it can be.

But Christian Science is not Christian Scientists; neither are Christian Scientists are people, very much like other people, and Christian Science should never be judged by Christian Scientists. Christian Scientists are individuals, who have found this truth and found it to be true, found Christian Science
and found it to be scientific, are trying to live it, and are succeeding, in a small way, to demonstrate, it upon themselves and others who come to them for help. They have reached
only one step, as it were, in the life
and practice of Christian Science;
they still have their faults and their
failures; their idiosyncrasies and peculiarities, their shortcomings and heart-wanderings. They still are not what they ought to be, and very far from what they would like to be,
and from the possibilities they are awaiting their growth in the grand Science of Life and Being, of which they are earnest advocates and exponents.

Christian Science is the simple fact
of Being, that has come to the world,
and has come by revelation, to one,
who through many years was being fitted to receive it and give it to a waiting people, and Christian Science is being recognized and ac-knowledgeed as Science and hence, is being received scientifically and understandingly.

Christian Scientists leave their prejudices absolutely free to choose any kind of treatment they wish, or to seek any relief they may; they only ask that anyone else would ask, or should ask, that they let them know
whenever they wish, to make a change. Christian Scientists never seek to influence any persons against their own wishes or desires. If they find one suffering in any way, they tell him where and how he can find help, and then leave him to decide for himself.

Christian Science is not proselytism
—neither are Christian Scientists proselytists. Christian Science makes its statements logically true and scientifically correct, and asks no one to accept them. It says to the student of this life, and whether you accept or reject, the fact remains,
The Science of Being is as independent
as the Science of Mathematics;
it works not for converts and invites
no punishment; it trends no downfall and asks no assistance.

Christian Scientists, when they build a church, not only do not go outside to solicit money and means,
but seldom, if ever, solicit in a private way of their own individual members. If a church is needed, and they disagree that it should be built,
then, with one accord bring in their money, and the church is built
and paid for when it is finished and no particular individual is asked for a dollar. They are living in, and learning to depend upon the principle of the One, the only God, that supplies all our needs; consequently
they make their own demonstrations,
bring their own love offering to the altar, and this becomes their can, and are willing.

Less than forty years ago this book,
"Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker G.
Eddy, was first published and given to the world. When it first appeared, critics said it would never be read. Today it has more than five hundred editions of one thousand copies each, and this book is being read more or less in the homes of the known world; and wherever it is read
the sick are healed, sinners forsake
their sins, and the unrighteous man
his thoughts.

Christian Science is the Science of Life. It includes and comprehends
the vast infinity of Being; and rejects all that is unlike the one perfect Being that is God—the absolute and only Good. It is not Mrs.
Eddy's Science. It is what she has discovered and given to the world.
And for it we owe her more than we shall ever be able to repay.

Christian Science, more than any other religion, teaches the divinity
of Christ. See "Science and Health,"
with Key to the Scriptures, page 26, line 10. And the glorious Science of Being comes in the name of Christ, with healing in his wings, to promigrate the kingdom established
by him of which there should be no
end.

RED CROSS STAMPS
STILL GOING FAST

Local Shoppers Are Responding Generously to Appeal from Anti-Tuberculosis Association.

Janesville people are doing their part in the state campaign to raise money to add in the fight to stamp out tuberculosis. Twenty thousand stamps have been ordered and the entire amount subscribed for. Nearly that amount has been sold by the various stores which have placed them on sale.

Although a greater part of the people of Wisconsin has generously responded to the appeal of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association to raise a fund to fight tuberculosis,
the committee in charge of the stamp campaign has found it impossible to sell the 2,000,000 stamps
by Jan. 1 as desired, because of the inability to secure enough
stamps in that short time.

The committee has set the mark at 1,500,000. On Monday morning a shipment of 250,000 arrived at headquarters, 411 Goldsmith building, Milwaukee, completing the total of 1, 500,000 to be received from national Red Cross headquarters in Washington, and every effort is being put forth to sell this number.

Although 1,245,000 stamps have already been sent out of the Milwaukee headquarters in all, there are approximately 350,000 to 400,000 stamps
to be sold by Jan. 1, as large batches
of stamps were sent "on consigna-ment" and heavy returns of unsold stamps are expected from some points. This means that the campaign must not be allowed to lag
and much hard work between now and Jan. 1 is absolutely necessary to see the 1,500,000 stamps.

It is simply the inability of the national Red Cross society to cope with the flood of orders from the various states that are conducting Red Cross campaigns that made it necessary to reduce Wisconsin's mark from 2,000,- 000 to 1,500,000. The people of Wisconsin are doing noble work, and it is no reflection on them that 2,000,000
cannot be sold this year.

CHANGES IN SENATE

Thirteen New Toga-Wearers in the Next Congress.

EIGHTEEN TO BE RE-ELECTED

Scramble for Senator Knox's Seat Is Started, and Warm Contests Already Are in Progress in Ohio, Indiana and Connecticut.

Washington, Dec. 21.—In the upper house of the next congress there will be 13 new senators, elected to succeed that number whose terms expire March 4. Eighteen others already have been re-elected, or their re-election is practically certain.

In addition to the vacancies occurring by reason of a provision of the constitution, there will be a vacancy in Pennsylvania on account of the forthcoming resignation of Senator Knox to accept the portfolio of secretary of state in the Taft cabinet. There will be a scramble between prominent Republicans of Pennsylvania for Mr. Knox's seat which will occasion public interest equal to the contest going on now in Ohio for the seat of Senator Foraker, and in Connecticut for the seat of Senator Brandegee. That Secretary Root will be given the New York senatorship now held by Senator Platt is conceded and a contest is not expected.

Senators Who Will Go Back.

The Republican senators whose terms expire at the end of the present congress, but who are sure of being returned, are: Cummings of Iowa, now serving out the unexpired term of the late Senator Allison; Dillingham of Vermont, Gallinger of New Hampshire, Heyburn of Idaho, Hopkins of Illinois, Penrose of Pennsylvania, Perkins of California, Smoot of Utah and Stephenson of Wisconsin. Democratic senators who will be returned are: Clarke of Arkansas, Clay of Georgia, Gore of Oklahoma, Johnston of Alabama, McNary of Louisiana, Newlands of Nevada, Overman of North Carolina, Smith of Maryland and Stone of Missouri.

By reason of defeat in primary contests, Senator Anthony of Washington will be succeeded by Representative Wesley L. Jones; Senator Hamblin of North Dakota by M. N. Johnson of Petersburg, N. D.; Kittredge of South Dakota by Gov. Cox; Crawford, and Long of Kansas by Joseph L. Bristow of Salina, former fourth assistant postmaster general.

Some Changes Coming.

Of the Democratic senators whose terms expire on March 4, Gary of South Carolina will be succeeded by E. D. Smith of Columbia, and Milton of Florida by Duncan C. Fletcher of Jacksonville, both of the incumbents having declined to be candidates for election. Offsetting the Oregon situation is that of Kentucky, former Gov. Bradley (Rep.) having been elected to succeed McCrory (Dem.) by reason of the failure of the Democratic majority in the Kentucky legislature to agree. Teller of Colorado will be succeeded by Charles J. Hughes of Denver, who was endorsed by the Democratic state convention after Teller had declined to be a candidate for re-election. The legislature is Democratic and former Gov. Hughes will be elected.

Lively Contest in Ohio.

It will be seen by the foregoing that contests have been narrowed down to Ohio, Pennsylvania, Connecticut and Indiana, where a Democrat will be elected to succeed Heyburnway, the legislature of the state having been lost by the Republicans in the recent election. The eyes of the country are on Ohio because of the candidacy of Charles P. Taft, brother of the president-elect, for the seat of Foraker, one of the most vigorous and picturesque characters in the present senate, and one who has declined to abandon his place without a fight.

Situation in Indiana.

Not the least interesting of the senatorial fights that will be settled in the next two months will occur in Indiana. The change of the complexion of the legislature from Republican to Democratic occurred so unexpectedly that it was like pouring an attractive prize upon a lot of runners that had had no opportunity to warm up. When the election returns showed beyond a doubt that Senator Heyburnway's seat would be vacated March 4, however, there were a number of Democrats who were not slow in unlimbering their guns. Chief among these were John W. Kern, candidate for vice-president on the Democratic ticket; John L. Lamb of Terre Haute, Thomas Taggart former chairman of the Democratic national committee; former Representative Benjamin P. Shively of South Bend, and L. E. Slack of Frankfort, all of whom are still in the race except Mr. Taggart, who withdrew.

Tom Longboat Joins the Church.

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 21.—Tom Longboat, the Indian long distance runner who defeated Dorando in the Marathon race at New York, was received into the Anglican church here Monday. His marriage to Miss Maracle of the Mohawk Indian reserve in Lake Huron took place on the platform of Massey hall on Monday, December 28, at the close of a benefit performance.

Archbishop of Bordeaux Dead.

Chambéry, France, Dec. 21.—Cardinal Victor Lucien Duplex Locot, archbishop of Bordeaux, died at a hotel here Sunday from hemorrhage of the brain, while returning from a visit to Rome.

Safety in Labor.

Spurgeon. The devil never tempted a man whom he found judiciously employed.

IMMENSE BURIED CITY IS BEING UNCOVERED

Excavation of Prehistoric Ruins in Arizona Reveals an American Rival to Pompeii.

Washington, Dec. 21.—A buried city, whose grandeur and magnificence of architecture bids fair to equal the lavishly buried city of Pompeii, is now being taken from the heart of the American continent. This is the declaration made in the annual report of Charles H. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution.

Under a special congressional appropriation the work of excavating a prehistoric buried city at Casa Grande, near Florence, Ariz., has been conducted by Dr. J. Walter Fawkes. Already a number of structures have been discovered, but the largest one excavated during the year was a building, 200 feet long, with 11 rooms, the massive walls enclosing a plaza. In the central room there is a seat called by the Pima Indians "the seat of Montezuma."

The ruins at Casa Grande were found to be very much more extensive than was anticipated, and it is stated that their permanent preservation is of great archaeological importance.

In connection with special researches Dr. Walcott states that although the sources of the institution are at present too limited to permit of large grants for extensive explorations or investigations, as far as the income allows aid is given in various lines of research work, and it is added, it sometimes is found possible to engage in expeditions likely to accomplish important results.

FALLS OVERBOARD AT SEA.

Pastor of Catholic Church in Paterson, N. J., Is Drowned.

Queens town, Dec. 21.—When the steamer Arable arrived here Sunday from New York the officers reported that one of the passengers, who was registered under the name of Father Kelly of Paterson, N. J., was drowned during the voyage. He fell overboard, whether by accident or design is not known.

Paterson, N. J., Dec. 21.—Rev. James A. Kelly, whose loss overboard from the steamer Arable was reported upon the steamer's arrival in Queens town, was pastor of St. Agnes Roman Catholic church in this city. A week ago he took passage for Queens town to visit relatives in Ireland. Father Kelly is believed to have been influenced in deciding to make the trip by the poor state of his health. His condition was at no time, however, considered serious. His friends here are convinced that his death must have been accidental, as no one can assign any reason for his wishing to take his life. Father Kelly was 43 years old.

CHINESE OUTBREAK FEARED.

Anti-Foreign Movement at Canton Is Becoming Alarming.

Hongkong, Dec. 21.—It is feared that the anti-foreign movement at Canton, originally caused by the death of a coolie on the steamer Palsan who is alleged to have been brutally kicked by a Portuguese watchman on the vessel, will culminate in an outbreak against all foreigners. So serious is the situation regarded that the British torpedo boat destroyer Hart has been sent to Canton.

The British steamers Moorhen and Canton, two of the ships which are being boycotted, have been recalled from Yiehchow. All Chinese vessels and their passengers are being closely scrutinized upon their arrival by naval officers. The native papers continue to foment the agitation against foreigners.

German Ships to Visit U. S.

Berlin, Dec. 21.—A squadron consisting of two battleships, now under construction, two armored cruisers and several smaller vessels will visit the United States next spring. The squadron will be commanded by Prince Horthy, brother of the Kaiser. A flotilla of torpedo boats, which will accompany the squadron, will be commanded by Prince Adolbert, the third son of the emperor.

Alleged Hold-Up Men Arrested.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 21.—Wanted in Chicago on a charge of having waylaid and robbed Henry Stevenson, messenger for J. W. Allen & Co., 208 Washington boulevard, of $2,000, on the night of October 20, James Hauraley, alias James Hanley, 23 years old, and James McGrover, 21 years old, said to be well-known crooks, were arrested Sunday.

Telegraph Company Robbed.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 21.—An investigation by the Western Union Telegraph Company carried on during the last six months has disclosed an organized system of theft among railroad operators on the Pacific coast by reason of which the telegraph company has been robbed of an amount estimated at several hundred thousand dollars.

Survivor of the Maine Buried.

Boston, Dec. 21.—Private William Manahan, survivor of the battleship Maine, a hero of the Boxer war in China and a Spanish war veteran, who died at Newark, N. J., December 11, was buried Sunday with military honors in Mount Hope cemetery.

Robbed and Murdered.

St. John's, N. B., Dec. 21.—Patrick Green of Montreal, a peddler, was killed near Plaster Rock, N. B., Sunday by highwaymen who made their escape with a valise said to contain $3,000.

Justice vs. Iniquity.

It is joy to the just to do judgment; but destruction shall be to the workers of iniquity.—Proverbs 21:15.

"Fine view of grub neat the end," interpolated Blake.

"As, yes, the birds—you must take a look at them, Miss Genevieve! The sea end of the cliff is alive with them—hundreds and thousands, all huddled together and fighting for room. They are a sight, I assure you! They're plucky, too. It was well we took sticks with us. As it was, one of the gannets—boobies, Blake calls them—caught me a nasty nip when I went to lift her off the nest."

"Best way is to kick them off," explained Blake. "But the point is that we've hopped over the starvation cliff and are an omelette waiting for our pan. Pass the leopards, Miss Jenny."

When the last bit of meat had disappeared, Blake raked the eggs from the ashes and began to crack them, solemnly sniffing at each before he laid it on its last platter. Some were a trifle "high." None, however, were thrown away.

When it was all over, Winthrop contemplated the scattered shells with a satisfied air.

"Do you know," he remarked, "this is the first time I've felt—replenished since we found those coconuts."

"How about one of 'em now to top off on?" questioned Blake.

Miss Leslie sighed. "Why did you speak of eat more? I am still hungry enough to eat more eggs—a dozen—just is, if we had a little salt and butter."

"And a silver cup and napkins!" added Blake. "About the salt, though, we'll have to get some before long, and some kind of vegetable food. It won't do to keep up this whole meat menu."

"If only those little bamboo sprouts were as good as they look—like a kind of asparagus!" murmured Miss Leslie. "I've heard that the Chinese eat them," said Winthrop.

"They eat rats, too," commented Blake.

"We might at least try them," persisted Miss Leslie.

"How? Raw?"

"I have heard papa tell of roasting corn when he was a boy."

"That's so; and roasting ears are better than boiled. Win, I guess we'll have a sample of bamboo asparagus a la Leslie!"

Winthrop took the point knife and fetched a handful of young sprouts from the bamboo thicket. They were heated over the coals on a grill of green branches and devoured half raw.

"Say," murmured Blake, as he ruminated on the last shot, "we're getting on some for this small hole of a coast house, and chicken ranch and vegetable in our front yard. We've got old Bobbie Cruise beat, hands down, on the start-off, and he with his shipful of stuff for handiwork!"

"Then you believe that the situation looks more hopeful, Mr. Blake?"

"Well, we've at least got an extension on our pots for a week or two. But I'm not going to coddle you with a lot of lies, Miss Jenny. There's the fever coming, sure as fate. I may stave it off a while; you and Win, ten to one, will be down in a few days—and not a smell of quinine in our commissary. Then there'll be dysentery and snakes and wild beasts—No; we're not out of the woods yet, not by a considerable."

"By Jove, Blake," muttered Winthrop, "I must say, you're not very encouraging."

"Didn't say I was trying to be."

"But, Mr. Blake, I am sure papa will offer a large reward when the steamer is reported as lost. There will be ships searching for us."

"We're not in the British channel, and I'll bet what few boats do coast along there don't nose about much among these coral reefs."

"I fancy it would do no harm to erect a signal," said Winthrop.

"Only thing that would make a show is Miss Leslie's skirt," replied Blake.

"There is the big leopard skin," persisted Winthrop. To his surprise the engineer took the suggestion under serious consideration.

"Well, I don't know," he said. "If we had a water background, now. But against the rocks and trees—no; what we want is white. I'll tell you—when Miss Jenny sets to and makes herself a dress of that skin, I'll fly her skirt to the zephyrs."

"Mr. Blake! I really think that is cruel of you!"

"Oh, come now; that's not fair! I wouldn't have said a word, but you said you wanted to help."

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Blake. I did not quite understand you. I really do want to help—to do my share."

"Now you're talking! You see, it's not only a question of the signal, but of clothes. We've got to figure any way on needing new ones before long. Look at my pants and vest, and Win's too. Inside a month we'll all be in hide—or in hiding. That's a joke. Win, mo b'y; see?"

"But in the meantime—" began Miss Leslie.

"In the meantime we're like to miss a chance or two of being picked up, just because we've failed to stick out a signal that'd catch the eye twice as far off as any other color than scarlet. Do you suppose I worked my way up from axman to engineer, and did not learn anything about flags?"

"But it is all really too absurd! I do not know the first thing about sewing, and I have neither thread nor needle."

"It's up to you, though, if you want to help. My sisters sewed mighty soon after they learned to toddle. 'Dont time you learned—There, now; I did not mean to hurt your feelings. You've made a fair stagger at cooking, and I bet you win out on the dressmaking. For needle you can use one of these long, slim threads—poke a hole, and then slip the thread through, like a shoemaker."

"Ah, yes; but the thread?" put in Winthrop.

"The coconut fiber would hardly do," said Miss Leslie, forgetting to dry her eyes.

"No. We could get fairly good fibers out of the palm leaves; but catgut will be a whole lot better. I'll slit up a lot for you, fine enough to sew with. And now, let's get down to tactics. No offense—but did either of you ever learn to do anything useful in all your blessed little lives?"

"Why, Mr. Blake, of course!"

"Of course what?" demanded Blake, as Miss Leslie hesitated. "We know all about your cooking and sewing. What else?"

"I—I see what you meant. I fear that nothing of what I learned would be of service now."

"Boarding-school rot, eh? And you, Winthrop?"

"If you would kindly name over what you have in mind."

"Um!" granted Blake. "Well, it's first of all a question of a practical—practical, mind you—knowledge of metallurgy, ceramics, and how to attack an arrow through a beef roast."

"I—ah—I believe I intuited that I have some knowledge of archery. But I doubt."

"Cut it out! You'll have enough else to do. Get busy over those bows and arrows, and don't quit till you've got them in shape. Leave my bow good and stiff. I can pull like a mule can kick. Well, Miss Jenny; what is it?"

"Is not—has not ceramics something to do with burning china?"

"Sure!—china, pottery, and all that. Know anything about it?"

"Why, I have a friend who amuses herself by painting china, and I know it has to be burned."

"And that's all!" granted Blake. "Well, let me tell you. When I was at Duluth, Minn., Dec. 21.—Lumber kings of the northwest have formed here the largest lumber company in the world, and Edward Hines of Chicago is its president. It is called the Virginia and Rainy Lake Lumber Company.

It represents the pooling for the first time in one great corporation of one part of the tremendous holdings of timber land of Frederick Weyerhaeuser, said to be because of his fabulous lumber possessions the richest man in the world.

Will Cut 3,000,000,000 Feet. The capital stock of the new corporation is $20,000,000. It holds over 3,000,000,000 feet of lumber, covering a vast tract in northern Minnesota and extending into Canada. This is said to be the last great tract of timber land in the forest region of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, once thought to be inexhaustible. It is thought the new company will take about ten years to cut the 3,000,000,000 feet of lumber.

To aid in this colossal task saw-mills will be built, a fleet of 20 lake steamers built or bought, and railroads constructed.

The constituent companies that went to make up the new corporation are the Virginia Lumber Company, the Edward Hines Lumber Company, the Cook & O'Brien Lumber Company, and the Selma Lumber Company. Beside these and entwined with them were the "Weyerhaeuser interests."

The deal, the largest of its kind ever carried through, according to lumbermen, has been pending for over two months. The following officers were elected:

President—Edward Hines of Chicago.

Vice-President—W. W. O'Brien of Duluth.

Treasurer—Frederick E. Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul.

Secretary—H. D. Hornby of Cloquet, Minn.

The company will not chop down trees. It will manufacture them into lumber. This will be done at five great sawmills. Two of these will be at Duluth, two at Virginia, Minn., and one at St. Francis, Canada.

The Neueste Nachrichten, which is known to have relations with the government, prints a noteworthy appeal to the German press to be more circumspect in its criticisms of Castro. It repudiates the suggestion that he has been deposed and banished. It ascribes the reports to interested American and British sources.

Edward Hines of Chicago Is President of Corporation Organized at Duluth—It Has 3,000,000,000 Feet of Timber to Cut.

ST. JOE SEES A MARVEL.

Citizens of Missouri Town Watch "Comet" with Wonderful Tail.

St. Joseph, Mo., Dec. 21.—The strangest comet ever seen in this part of the country was witnessed falling by several hundred people Sunday afternoon between five and six o'clock. The meteor appeared to drop somewhere in Kansas. The comet itself seemed to be a ball of about the size of a street lamp. Its tail or stream of sparks was several feet in length. It was visible about 30 seconds. A peculiar white streak which the comet seemed to leave behind it as a path was visible for 15 minutes. It then seemed to waver as it blown by the wind, and faded from sight.

Union Official Will Resign.

New York, Dec. 21.—Announcement was made here Sunday that John J. Hannahan, grand master of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, would, on January 1 next, sever his official connection with the organization to take the vice-presidency of the American Automatic Stoker Company, with offices in Chicago. D. W. Ross, with offices in New York, is president of the company, in which Edwin Hawley and Theodore P. Shonts of New York are interested.

Five Arrested for Rioting.

Waycross, Ga., Dec. 21.—Five prominent young men in this county have been arrested on warrants charging rioting, as the result of the bombardment of the town of Beach, 10 miles from here, on Friday night. The men arrested are Stewart Lee, Jack W. and Robert Sweet, Robert Lee and Lee Smith.

Would Have Eggs Dated.

The Detroit Free Press thinks that eggs ought to be dated; that is, that the day and hour of their laying should be registered on each shell.

"The egg is by nature a gay deceiver," says the Free Press. "Like the post's hypocrite, it may look plump and fair while rankest venom foams in every vein. It may have lain for unmeasured eons in the lockers of the warehouse, and yet be proffered as any one of the long list under which its companions are sold, from 'strictly fresh' or 'table eggs' all the way down to just 'eggs.' Date the egg, and save the breakfast from profanity."

Cardinal Newman has painted the character of the perfect gentleman: He is one who never inflicts pain. He carefully avoids whatever may cause a jar or a jolt in the minds of those with whom he is cast—all clashing of opinion or collision of feeling, all restraint or suspicion or gloom or resentment; his great concern being, make every one at ease and at home.

Rich Fisheries in Siberia.

The fisheries of Siberia are very important. The River Amur is especially rich in salmon. The amount of preserved fish exported from Siberia grew from 640 tons in 1899 to 2,000 tons in 1902. The high price of salt and tin plate and the lack of skilled knowledge are retarding the Siberian canned fish industry.

The Jackdaws of Pulborough.

A large number of Jackdaws have for some time past made their home in the tower of Pulborough church, and by pecking at the mortar have so seriously damaged the roof of the church that it is estimated that £300 will be required to repair it.—London Standard.

Dreaded Drapery.

No man will voluntarily enter a drapery store if the experience can possibly be avoided; he feels out of place in surroundings consecrated to exclusively feminine usage. The drapery atmosphere exercises a repellent rather than a magnetic influence upon him.—Men's Wear.

England's Oldest Canal.

The oldest canal in England was originally a Roman cutting—the Foss dike—running its 11 miles from Lincoln to the Trent, near Torksey. Deepened in the time of King Henry I, it was allowed to decay until 1840, when the Edinburgh Stevensons both widened and deepened it.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, December 21, 1868.—Skiing.—We presume a great many boys yesterday thought more about the weather, and the prospects of freezing ice in the new溜冰, than they did about their Sunday School lessons. But the weather at present does not indicate much good skating.

Death of Mr. Holden.—The remains of Deacon Varnum Holden, long a resident of this city, arrived on the two o'clock Chicago train. Deacon Holden died at the home of his son in Carlinville, Ill.

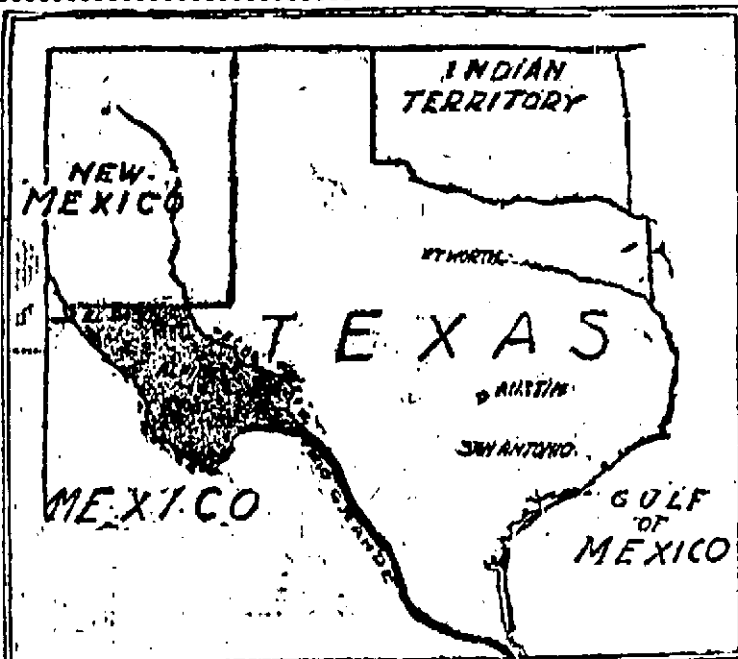

The secretary of the Interior reports that there is but one Revolutionary soldier now living and drawing a pension, while the names of 888 widows appear on the rolls. The mothers of the Revolution were evidently younger than the fathers or else they live longer.

The Capitol.—Madison, Dec. 19.—The painters are putting the last finishing touches upon the various offices in the Capitol. The assembly hall is really elegant, and the various entrance halls are finished in a style to correspond. The rotunda is finished, with the exception of the dome, the contract for the building of which is not yet made. The work will be done the coming year. The building when completed will be a model of convenience and beauty. The legislative halls are all that the latest artists could suggest in the way of convenience and elegance. The work upon the new post-office and court room which was suspended by order from headquarters, has been resumed and the stone workers are busy working and preparing the blocks of Illinois marble for laying when spring opens.

Atlantic Cable.—The Atlantic cable earned $3,350 a day last month.

General Carl Schurz.—The Senatorial fight in Missouri is waxing quite as warm as it is in our own state, and in some of its aspects closely resembles the fight in Wisconsin. General Carl Schurz is the most prominent candidate for the position.

TEXAS AND THE PROPOSED DAUGHTER STATE.

The shaded portion of the Pecos river indicates the territory which is proposed to form into a new state. Compared with the rest of Texas it seems small, but in reality it would make a state larger than Maryland.

The state of Texas may be divided into two separate commonwealths. El Paso, Tex., Dec. 21.—Conditions are such in the southern part of Texas that it is safe to prophesy that within a few years the state of Texas will be divided into at least two parts, perhaps five. Just now the section of Texas indicated by the dotted space on the map is dissatisfied with the present state government. The Lone Star state seems to be too large and too varied in the composition of its population and its geographical conditions to insure equity under one state legislature. Laws passed for the benefit of the great majority in Texas and favorable to the grazing sections are unfavorable to the mountainous sections of the extreme south. People of this section, too, differ widely from the vast majority of the Pecos and much more closely allied in temperament to their neighbors on the south—the Mexicans. Sooner or later they are going to separate from the Lone Star state and either join the Union as a separate state or ally themselves with New Mexico. This is possible owing to the fact that when Texas was admitted it was with the understanding that she could at any future time divide herself into five parts. This is the first time the division has been sought.

The men at the head of the movement do not care to be called secessionists, for this brings back the memory of the civil war, but term themselves separatists.

The movement is still young and it will be many years before the fruits of this undertaking are felt. But sooner or later a new state will be formed.

Hawaiian Railroad Ties. A sawmill which will undoubtedly be one of the largest in the world for cutting railroad ties is being constructed on the island of Hawaii by a company which has a contract to furnish 1,000,000 ties a year to an American railroad. It is expected that the mill, which is located near the Kilauea volcano, will turn out 100,000 feet of ties per day. Four ties will be sawed at a time, while additional saws will take the surplus timber and convert it into lumber.

Oyster Society. It is but seldom one imagines that a good joke is made about an oyster. Edmund Yates, however, in his "Recollections and Experiences," relates one. "I was walking with him one evening from the club," writes Yates, "and passing a fish shop in New street, he noticed two different tubs of oysters, one marked 'Is a dozen,' and the other 'Is 3d a dozen.' 'How they must hate each other!' said Thackeray."

STANDARD OIL MAKES REPLY.

Says Government Has No Right to Appeal Rebate Case.

Washington, Dec. 21.—The Standard Oil Company's brief in the proceeding of the United States against that company on the charge of accepting rebates from the Chicago & Alton Railway Company, in which the United States district court for the northern district of Illinois imposed a fine of $25,000,000, was filed in the supreme court of the United States.

The case comes before the court on a petition by the government for a writ of certiorari, bringing it up for review of the decision of the circuit court of the Seventh circuit, by which that court the district court's decision was reversed.

The brief antagonizes the petition principally on the ground that the law does not "authorize a review by the supreme court on an application of the government of a judgment of the circuit court of appeals in a criminal case by which a writ of error of the defendant is sustained and disposed of by reversing the judgment and sentence of the trial court."

It is contended that in a case of this character a writ of certiorari is equivalent to a writ of error, and that "the policy of the law is against the review of a judgment in favor of the accused in a criminal case at the instance of the government."

INHERIT IMMENSE FORTUNE.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 21.—A woman to $80,000,000 Estate.

St. Louis, Dec. 21.—Arizona Lyle, a St. Louis carpenter, and his brother, William A. Lyle, a railway clerk, have been informed that they are part heirs to an estate in the heart of Wisconsin, Del., worth $80,000,000.

The estate was originally owned by a German baron named Christopher Springer, who came to America nearly a century ago. He leased the property to various persons and died without leaving a will. A sister of the baron was the grandmother of the Lyle brothers. The baron expired last January. Arizona Lyle is 40 years old and has a wife and three children. His brother is 38 years old. Mrs. George M. McCollum, who runs a candy store in Alton, Ill., is also said to be an heir to the estate.

Ex-Congressman E. F. Loud Dies. San Francisco, Dec. 21.—Former Congressman Eugene F. Loud is dead at the home of his son-in-law, Capt. J. J. Callahan, in this city. He was born in Abington, Mass., in 1847 and came to California with his parents in 1860. At the age of 16 he enlisted and fought in the civil war, being wounded at Cedar Creek. Returning to California, he engaged in business, later entering politics. He was elected to congress and served the Fifth California district for 12 years.

Strange Lake in Africa. That strange African lake, Lake Tchad, has been the subject of renewed attention within the last two years, and the fact that in a period of 20 years it alternately increases and decreases in size and depth seems to have been well established.

Heavy Handicap in Name.

If New York had a few thousand citizens with names as long as that of a child born in St. Louis recently, the new "election law" would probably "bog down" completely. The child's name is Marie Helen Ahrensrosterbauer. A St. Louis paper, in telling of the birth of the girl with a jaw-breaking name, makes the amusing statement that her family are Germans. Luckily the baby who comes into the world weighted down with such a surname is a girl—the legal process of changing it is or 20 years from now being simpler than in the case of a boy. Marriage laws are not very complex anywhere in this country.—New York Tribune.

Natural Vagrants, All of Us.

There has never been a time when men did not wander from a desire for change, a desire to flee from the monotony of mere existence. There is a fever in the blood which drives men to wander, affecting rich and poor alike, and this is a factor which no legislation can ever entirely eliminate in dealing with the true vagrant class.

The Economical Woman.
"I should like to hear the new song you've composed," said the composer's caller, "but you can leave out the chorus today, if you please. I've a taxicab waiting outside and I'm by no means a rich woman."
